

Nu-Age Vehicle & Asset Finance Privacy Policy

Our Commitment to Protect your Privacy

Nu-Age Vehicle & Asset Finance seeks to provide the best possible service to its customers by providing an extensive range of financial products and services.

We understand how important it is to protect your personal information. This document sets out our Privacy Policy commitment in respect of personal information that you may provide to us. We commit that any personal information we collect about you will only be used for the purposes indicated in our policy. It is important to us that you are confident that any personal information we collect from you or is received by us will be treated with appropriate respect ensuring protection of your personal information.

Our commitment in respect of personal information is to abide by the Australian Privacy Principles for the protection of personal information, as set out in the Privacy Act and any other relevant law including the amendments to the Act of March 12th 2014.

Who is Nu-Age Vehicle & Asset Finance?

Nu-Age Vehicle & Asset Finance is an organisation that offers financial products and services within the finance broking industry. We process and assess information in respect of loan applications. We locate funders suitable to provide loans to you. We may also market other products such as insurance.

Personal Information

Personal information is information that identifies you as an individual or from which your identity can be reasonably identified. The types of personal information we may collect includes your name, date of birth, address and other contact information, drivers licence number, employment details and financial information. In addition, if we are providing financing or insurance products to you, then we may also collect additional types of personal information.

Why we collect your Personal Information

We collect and receive personal information from our customers or from other business referrers in order to conduct our business, including assessing and obtaining approval for loans.

To enable us to maintain a successful business relationship with you, we may disclose your personal information with other organisations that provide products or services used or marketed by us. The types of organisations to which we are likely to disclose information about you include other lenders, valuers,, accountants, credit reporting agencies and lawyers. We may also disclose your personal information to any other organisation that may have or is considering having an interest in your loan, or in our business.

Various laws may require or authorise us to collect your personal information. These laws include the Personal Properties Securities Act 2009 (Cth), the National Consumer Credit Protection Act 2009 (Cth) and the Anti-Money Laundering and Counter-Terrorism Financing Act 2006 (Cth).

How do we collect your Personal Information and Non- Personal Information?

We can only collect personal information about you by a lawful and fair means. We may collect information from you directly, such as when you complete an application form including an online application form, in person, a contract or make an enquiry. We may also collect your personal information indirectly from third parties such as our related companies, introducers, finance and insurance companies or service providers.

If we receive personal information about you from someone else without having asked for it (whether from within the Group or from a third party), we will only continue to hold it if it is personal information that we could have collected from you ourselves, in accordance with this Privacy Policy. If it is personal information which is not reasonably necessary for our business functions and activities, we will destroy or de-identify it.

If you are using one of our websites, you will browse anonymously, except as set out below.

For all visitors browsing our website, we use cookies to collect information such as the server your computer is logged on to, your browser type (for example, Internet Explorer, Chrome or Firefox), the time of visit, pages visited and your IP address. An IP address is a number that is assigned to your computer automatically and required for using the Internet. We may also derive the general geographic area associated with an IP address. We also use cookies to manage online advertising.

Information collected in this way is not capable of personally identifying you.

If you have provided us with personal information by completing an application form online, we may use cookies to collect information about how you browse our websites, which can also identify you. If you would prefer not to be identified in this way, you can delete the cookies and reconfigure the cookie preferences on your internet browser.

We use Google Display Advertising features (Demographics and Interest Reports, Remarketing with Google Analytics). We and third party vendors, such as Google, use first-party cookies and third party cookies together to report how our ad impressions, other uses of ad services, and interactions with these ad impressions and ad services are related to visits to website digital services.

Web users who do not want their data collected with Google Analytics can install the Google Analytics opt-out browser add-on. This add-on instructs the Google Analytics JavaScript running on websites to prohibit sending information to Google Analytics.

Most browsers accept cookies by default, however you can alter your browser settings to not accept cookies or delete the cookies from your system. Most browsers do allow a 'private' mode where cookies are always deleted after a visit.

Please read your browser's help section for more information about how to set the 'private' mode or how to delete cookies. You can still visit our site even though your browser is in 'private' mode, however the user experience might not be optimal and some functionalities might not work.

For marketing purposes our websites may use UTM tags. UTM tags or UTM codes are a way to analyse website traffic or marketing campaigns from other platforms or AdWord campaigns and how you interact with our websites. To do this a 'tag' is added to the end of a URL which provides data to Google Analytics.

To whom will we disclose your Personal Information?

Where possible, we will inform you, at or before the time of collecting your personal information, the types of organisations that we intend to disclose your personal information to. Prior to disclosing any of your personal information to another organisation, we will take all reasonable steps to satisfy ourselves that:

- (a) the organisation has a commitment to protecting your personal information at least equal to our commitment; and
- (b) you have consented to us doing so.

Sometimes we are required or authorised by law to disclose your personal information. Circumstances in which we may disclose your personal information would be to a Court or Tribunal in response to a request or in response to a subpoena or to the Australian Taxation Office. Only in special circumstances might we disclose your information to overseas recipients and in such cases we will seek your authorisation and disclose the specific country or countries and the intended entities.

If we collect government identifiers, such as your tax file number, we do not use or disclose this information other than as authorised by law. We will never use a government identifier in order to identify you.

In most circumstances it will be necessary for us to identify you in order to successfully do business with you. However, where it is lawful and practicable to do so, we will offer you the opportunity of doing business with us without providing us with your personal information, for example, if you make general inquiries about interest rates or current promotional offers.

What is credit information?

Where we provide finance to you, we collect, hold, use and disclose certain credit information about individuals who are, or apply to be, customers for consumer credit, or guarantors for consumer or commercial credit.

We may collect and hold any type of credit information about you as permitted by the Privacy Act and the Privacy (Credit Reporting) Code 2014. We may collect this information directly from you, or from other third parties such as CRBs. The types of credit information we may collect include:

- identity particulars such as your name, gender, address (and previous addresses), date of birth, name of employer and driver's licence number;

- the fact that credit has been applied for with us and the amount and type of credit;
- details of other credit providers relevant to you;
- details of the start and end dates of credit granted to you and certain terms and conditions of your credit arrangements (such as repayment conditions);
- repayment history information (such as whether you have met payment obligations and the date of payment);
- more specific default information, including information about payments which are more than 60 days overdue, subsequent repayments or if you have entered into a new credit arrangement as a result of a default;
- confirmation of previous information requests to CRBs made by other credit providers, mortgage insurers and trade insurers;
- whether, in our or another credit provider's opinion, you have committed a serious credit infringement (e.g. acted fraudulently);
- the fact that credit provided to you has been paid or otherwise discharged;
- court proceedings information, personal insolvency information and credit-related publicly available information; and
- scores, ratings, summaries, evaluations and other publicly available information relating to credit worthiness, including personal insolvency information, which is derived by us or by CRBs wholly or partly on the basis of the information above and which indicates your eligibility for consumer credit (also called 'credit eligibility information').

Where we collect credit information from a CRB, we may use that information to produce our own assessments and ratings in respect of an individual's credit worthiness.

Why do we collect credit information

We collect your credit information for the purpose of providing you with our credit services. This may include using your credit information to form decisions as to whether to provide you with credit or credit assistance or accept you as a guarantor, to confirm your identity, to manage and review your credit and to participate in the credit reporting system (where credit information is usually exchanged between credit providers and CRBs).

How do we collect credit information?

We collect credit information in the same way that we collect personal information.

In addition, we may collect credit information from other credit providers, from CRBs or from the usage and repayment of any account you hold with us. If you are a guarantor, this may include obtaining from a CRB credit reports containing personal information about you and any other information deemed necessary to assess whether to accept you as a guarantor for the credit applied for or given to the applicant.

Using and disclosing credit information

We only hold, use and disclose your credit information for the purposes outlined above, or for related purposes which might reasonably be expected, unless we otherwise obtain your consent.

To do this, we may disclose your credit information to Entities within the Group, or third parties outside the Group including those who:

- are considering becoming a guarantor or a person considering offering property as security for the credit in order for them to determine whether to act as guarantor, or to keep that person informed about the guarantee;
- undertake debt collection in relation to the credit;
- are named in an application for credit or guarantee, such as your employer;
- are a transferee from us of the credit;
- are parties involved in loan securitisation arrangements;
- provide credit or other products to you or to whom an application has been made for those products;
- may want to market products to you (unless you have declined to receive such communications as outlined below);
- are service providers to the Group (such as lawyers, accountants and storage providers);
- are regulatory bodies, government agencies, law enforcement bodies, courts and dispute resolution schemes;
- introduce you to the Group (such as brokers, new vehicle franchise dealers and used vehicle dealers)
- are financiers, insurers or warranty providers
- are your authorised agents, executors, administrators or legal representatives
- are involved in managing or administering your finance such as third party suppliers, printing and postal services, call centres, trade insurers and CRBs;
- we are legally authorised to do so by law, such as under the Anti-Money Laundering and Counter Terrorism Financing Act 2006 (Cth), government and law enforcement agencies or regulators;
- have an interest in your finance or our business; or

- are credit reporting bodies (CRBs) who may use this information to provide identity verification services. By agreeing to this Privacy Policy, I confirm that I am authorised to provide the personal details presented and I consent to my information being checked with the document issuer or official record holder for the purpose of confirming my identity.

Further, we may disclose your credit eligibility information to another credit provider in order to assess your credit application or a guarantor application, to help you avoid a default or to tell them of any default you may have had, but only with your consent.

We may also hold, use and disclose your personal information in connection with suspected fraud, misconduct and unlawful activity, and as part of acquisitions or potential acquisitions of or by our business.

If we are holding your personal information in connection with suspected fraud, misconduct or unlawful activity, we are not required to give you access to that personal information if we reasonably believe that such access would prejudice the taking of appropriate action in those circumstances.

Disclosure of credit information to CRBs

Equifax Australia Information Services and Solutions Pty Ltd: www.equifax.com.au/contact-us

Equifax's policy about the management of credit-related personal information can be found at www.equifax.com.au/credit-reporting-policy. Equifax's contact details are as follows:

Phone:

1300 762 207

Mail:

Equifax – Customer Resolutions

PO Box 964

North Sydney NSW 2059

Email:

corrections@equifax.com.au

Additional obligations, privacy consents and notifications may also apply for our credit products. This Credit Reporting Policy is not intended to limit or exclude these provisions.

Opting out of CRB direct marketing pre-screenings

A CRB may use your credit reporting information to assist us to “pre-screen” you for direct marketing by us. If you do not want any of the CRBs listed above to use your information for the purpose of pre-screening, you have the right under the Privacy Act to contact them and request that they exclude you.

If you are a victim of fraud (including identity-related fraud)

You are entitled under the Privacy Act to request that a CRB not use or disclose credit reporting information they hold about you in circumstances where you reasonably believe that you have been, or are likely to be, a victim of fraud, including identity-related fraud. For a period of 21 days after the CRB receives your request the CRB is not permitted to use or disclose this information and this period is called a “ban period”. You can make such a request the CRB listed above.

What is sensitive information?

Sensitive information is personal information that includes information relating to your racial or ethnic origin, political opinions, memberships in trade or professional associations, political associations or trade unions, religious beliefs or affiliations, philosophical beliefs, sexual preferences, criminal record, health information.

Health information includes any information about:

- your health at any time;
- your expressed wishes regarding future health services to you; or
- health services to be provided to you.

This may include details of any pre-existing illnesses, medications, results of tests and investigations (such as X-rays or blood tests), visits to health service providers and their opinions and formal assessments of disability, incapacity or injury.

It also includes any other information collected in connection with providing a health service, the donation of body parts or genetic information that could be predictive of your, or a relative's health.

Where we provide insurance products to you, we may collect, hold, use and disclose certain health information about you when you are applying for insurance or when we are assessing any claim you make.

What is the purpose for collecting sensitive information?

We require your sensitive information (including your health information) in order to assess any claims for payment under an insurance policy (including one-off or ongoing payments) relating to illness, or injury benefits, involuntary unemployment and life benefits.

How do we collect sensitive information?

We will only collect sensitive information (such as health information) about you if you give your consent and if it is reasonably necessary for our business functions and activities.

We collect sensitive information in the same way that we collect other personal information, as outlined above. In addition, we may collect health information indirectly from a health service provider who has assessed or treated you, such as:

- a GP or medical specialist;
- a hospital where you have received treatment; or
- a health practitioner (such as a psychologist or physiotherapist).

Using and disclosing sensitive information

We only hold, use and disclose sensitive information (including health information) about you for the purposes outlined above, or for directly related purposes which might be reasonably expected, unless we otherwise obtain your consent.

For instance, we hold, use and disclose your health information to manage our products and services, manage our relationship with you, deal with your inquiries and concerns and assess claims you may have under your insurance policy.

To do this, we may disclose your health information to Entities within the Group or third parties outside the Group who:

- provide related services to us, such as lawyers, accountants, insurance underwriters, researchers or document storage providers;
- are government agencies (including Centrelink), law enforcement bodies, courts and dispute resolution schemes; or
- are your authorised agents, executors, administrators or legal representatives.

If we use it any way which you might not reasonably expect and which is not directly related to providing or managing your insurance policy, we will ask for your consent.

Direct Marketing

From time to time, we may use the personal information collected from you for direct marketing purposes, such as targeted advertising on new vehicles, maintenance, promotions, special offers and other information which we think you may find interesting. If we do contact you in this way, it will only be in relation to matters that customers would reasonably expect us to contact them directly about. We will ensure that our marketing activities comply with applicable laws.

We may contact you by telephone, email or SMS for these purposes.

You acknowledge that your personal information will be disclosed to other Entities within the Group, who may tailor marketing to you by combining personal information about you, which is held by those Entities with personal information we have disclosed.

If we have disclosed your personal information to other Entities within the Group, we may tailor marketing to you, by combining information about you which is held by the other Entities with the information we hold. However, other Entities will only use that information for direct marketing purposes if you have given your consent to do so.

We do not sell personal information to third party organisations to allow them to contact you for direct marketing purposes.

We will only use your health information for the purposes of direct marketing if you have consented to us using the information for that purpose.

If you do not wish to receive any direct marketing communication from us, you may at any time decline to receive such information by contacting us:

By phone:

+61 8 6424 8195 between 9am and 5pm Monday to Friday

By mail:

Privacy Officer

P O Box 848

VICTORIA PARK WA 6979

By email:

jill@nuagegroup.com.au

You can also follow the instructions for unsubscribing in our direct marketing communications.

We do not sell personal information to third party organisations to allow them to contact you for direct marketing purposes.

Updating your Personal Information

It is important to our relationship that the personal information we hold about you is accurate and up to date.

During the course of our relationship with you we will ask you to inform us if any of your personal information has changed.

If you wish to make any changes to your personal information, you may contact us. We will generally rely on you to assist us in informing us if the information we hold about you is inaccurate or incomplete.

Access to your Personal Information

You are entitled under the Privacy Act to access the personal information we hold about you and (provided that it is reasonable and practicable) to do so in a manner that you request.

We will need to validate the identity of anyone making an access request, to ensure that we do not provide your information to anyone who does not have the right to that information.

We will provide you access within 30 days if it is reasonable and practicable to do so, but in some circumstances it may take longer.

If access is refused, we will give you a notice explaining our decision to the extent practicable and your options to make a complaint.

We do not usually charge you for access to your personal information. However, if the request is complex, we may charge you the marginal cost of providing the access, such as staff costs of locating and collating information or copying costs.

Correction

If you feel that the personal information (including the credit information and sensitive information) we hold about you is incorrect, you are able to contact us at any time to request that we correct that information.

If you would like to do so please contact our Privacy Officer:

By phone:

+61 8 6424 8195 between 9am and 5pm Monday to Friday

By mail:

Privacy Officer

P O Box 848

VICTORIA PARK WA 6979

By email:

jill@nuagegroup.com.au

If appropriate we will correct the information at the time of the request. Where reasonable, and after our investigation, we will provide you with the details about whether we have corrected the personal information.

We may need to consult with other entities as part of our investigation (including other credit providers or CRBs).

We will normally try to resolve correction requests within 30 days of you making a request.

There will be no cost to you if we correct your personal information held by us.

Business without Identifying You

In most circumstances it will be necessary for us to identify you in order to successfully do business with you, however, where, it is lawful and practicable to do so, we will offer you the opportunity of doing business with us, without providing us with personal information. Such a situation would be where you make general enquiries about interest rates or current promotional offers. Where sensitive information is collected, stored, used or transferred about you, we will only use this information if you have consented or in the exercise or defence of a legal claim. Sensitive information is information relating to your racial or ethnic origin, political persuasion, memberships in trade or professional association or trade unions, sexual preferences, criminal record or health.

Further Information

You may request further information about the way we manage your personal information by writing or emailing. If you believe that we have not complied with our obligations relating to your personal information (including your credit information and sensitive information) or

If you have a complaint or query about our Privacy Policy or the information we are holding about you please phone our office on +61 8 6424 8195 or email Nu-Age Vehicle & Asset Finance direct: jill@nuagegroup.com.au We will investigate your complaint and respond within 30 days with a proposed resolution. If you feel we have not properly dealt with a complaint, you may contact the Office of the Australian Information Commissioner at enquiries@oaic.gov.au or on 1300 363 992.

Keeping personal information secure

Your personal information (including your credit information and sensitive information) may be held by us in electronic form on our secure servers and may also be held in paper form. We may use cloud storage to store the personal information (including credit information and sensitive information) we hold about you. The security of your information is very important to us and we have security measures to protect any personal, credit or sensitive information that we hold.

Before disclosing personal information to a customer, we confirm the identity of that customer to prevent misuse or unlawful disclosure of the information.

We have security measures to ensure the physical security of personal information held on our premises and systems. When records containing personal information are no longer required, we delete the information or permanently de-identify it.

In relation to data stored or transmitted electronically, we regularly review developments in security and encryption technologies. Unfortunately, no data transmission over the internet can be guaranteed as completely secure. We take all reasonable steps to protect the information in our systems from misuse, interference, loss, and any unauthorised access, modification or disclosure.

We take reasonable steps to preserve the security of cookie and personal information in accordance with this policy. If your browser is suitably configured, it will advise you whether the information you are sending us will be secure (encrypted) or not secure (unencrypted).

Data breaches

A data breach occurs if personal information that the Group or its Entities hold is subject to unauthorised access or disclosure, or is lost. We will take all reasonable steps to prevent a data breach from occurring.

A data breach will be notified to you and the Australian Privacy Commissioner if:

- There is unauthorised access to or disclosure of your personal information;
- The unauthorised disclosure is likely to result in serious harm to you; and
- We have been unable to prevent the likely risk of serious harm with remedial action.

We will also conduct an assessment if it is not clear if a suspected data breach meets the above criteria. The assessment will determine whether the data breach is an 'eligible data breach' that triggers notification obligations to you and to the Commissioner.

Once you are notified about a data breach that we have assessed as an eligible data breach, you are encouraged to take steps to reduce your risk of harm, through measures such as changing passwords and being alert to identity fraud or scams.

Updates

We may review and amend this Privacy Policy from time to time to address changes to laws and to reflect our current operations and practices. You can obtain a copy of the current version on request.

This policy is current as at 23 June 2021.